HELP YOUR TOWN WHEN YOU HELP YOUR COUNTRY

Many people do not seem to realize that Liberty Bonds, U. S. Stamps, etc., can only be handled by allotting to each state and town, or city, its quota, based on its population and assessed wealth.
Every Hull citizen, or tax payer, who contributes to any of these funds through agencies outside of the town is depriving our town of the standing and prestige which rightfully belongs to it, and is also at the same time relieving citizens of other communities from subscribing their just and fair share of the patriotic work. If circumstances make it necessary to transfer funds through out side banks, committees, etc., great care should be taken to have them credited to Hull; if it is to maintain its due standing through the ready and unfailing patriotism of its people.

BOSTON UNIVERSITY NOTES

Mr. Frank Kingdon, of Hull, a sophomore in the College of Liberal Arts of Boston University, has been elected editor-in-chief of the Beacon, the leading literary undergraduate magazine of Boston University.

DAMON SCHOOL, P. T. A.

The regular meeting on April 9th was one of the most enjoyable of the season. The business meeting was followed by a piano solo by Mrs. Grace Ahearn which was heartily applauded and to which she responded with another by the request of some one in the audience. A chorus of pupils from Mr. Varney's class sang two pieces in a very pleasing manner after which the speaker, Miss Elizabeth Jackson, addressed the meeting holding her audience closed attention for three-quarters of an hour. Miss Jackson was in France doing work for the American Fund for French Wounded from which she obtained release that she might teach those blinded in service in that trenches. Her talk was exceedingly interesting, much more so from the fact that she told what she knew from actual contact and observation.

The committee appointed to handle the dime collection for the P. T. A. service house in Washington for the soldiers reported $10.55 and it was decided to continue the work until the May meeting when the collection would close.
The cocon committee reported for the season, which closed the end of March, as follows: Material contributed:
16 lbs. cocoa, 42 cans condensed milk,
1 case condensed milk, 1 case evaporated milk, 14 qts. dairy milk, 22 lbs.
sugar.
Cash received $13.76
Cash paid out 12.51
Balance on hand $1.25
Surely the P. T. A. has not fallen behind in its good work although all its members are actively engaged in war work also.

REBEKAH ANNIVERSARY.

The anniversary of Arelia M. Stefon
Rebekah Lodge of Cohasset was held on Thursday afternoon and evening, April 4, in a pleasing and profitable manner.
The regular meeting was held in the afternoon, and in the evening at 6.30 members and their friends marched to the banquet hall, where all sat down to a bountiful supper of baked beans, all kinds of salad, pies, cakes, jellies and coffee. In the evening a delightful entertainment was given by Mrs. Fannie Merritt, assisted by several ladies from Seltunite. After an hour of social intercourse everybody went home happy.
It was regretted that this was the last time Sister Grace M. Welsh, deputy-president, would make an official visit.

HULL PUBLIC SAFETY COMMITTEE

HULL VILLAGE P-T ASS'N.

The regular meeting of the Hull Village School Parent-Teacher Ass'n was held at the school house on Monday afternoon with only a small number in attendance. After the opening exercises of the State Board of Health, health officer of the Eastern District, gave an illustrated lecture emphasizing the need of the methods whereby this can be done in our district. Dr. Champion said

ery Units states that the Commonwealth through the State Board of Agriculture, cooperating with the Committee on Food Production of the Public Safety Committee, will place a certain amount of agricultural machinery at the service of the farmers. This machinery is designed to assist in the production of the fol-oats, barley, buckwheat and rye, corn, beans and potatoes. The committee in charge wish to ascertain the acreage which the farmers in this State will agree to plant of these crops and to what extent they wish the use of this machinery. In order to reimburse the state for the work it does with this machinery, the cost of operation, plus depreciation and interest will be charged.

In order to get a tractor in a section it will be necessary to secure at least 100

Speaking of roll collars, they distinguish the reason and prove unusually becoming. They appear in all the materials used for blouses and in pique. They are high at the back and usually long in the front. Collar and cuff sets of satin, pique or organdie are sold separately and worn with coats or attached to blouses where they fulfill their purpose as a finish and serve to brighten the coat suit.

Georgette crepe, voile, organdie, batiste, linen and wash satin are the materials that make the cool and lovely blouses of this season. Straight and

One of the advance notes of spring is that cretonne will be considerably used as a trimming for sports suits. These cretonnes are striped and flowered in such a way that they can be cut away and used in any applique way desired. Some of the dresses and suits which originated in Paris are trimmed with small bits of ribbon or printed material in which the small flower ornament is outlined with gold embroidery thread.

In making these scrap books for the soldiers we are cautioned against putting in anything that will produce homesickness. Pictures and stories that suggest family reunions on holidays like Thanksgiving and Christmas are to be kept out. The soldiers enjoy most jokes on "rookies" and young officers and funny cartoons of camp life.

Housework, such as sweeping and bedmaking, is extremely good exercise, and a good brisk walk, with head held high and nose sniffing the fresh air, when you go to do your household errands is most wholesome, says a writer in Mother's Magazine. At the risk of being considered a bore, I want to urge again that the easiest way of growing old is to let yourself become a bore. The danger of growing old is the danger of narrowing one's horizon, one's subjects of conversation, one's interest in the larger things of life. It is a mistake to confine your thoughts to the limits of your own town, a bigger mistake to limit them to your own household, and biggest of all is the fault of being interested in people only not in the current events of the day. If you have never found the newspaper interesting, now, as middle age is creeping upon you, learn to be interested. Go to the library and find a good magazine which reviews the politics, the history, the scientific advance of the past month, and read it and talk about what you read.

Spring Colds Are the Worst

They lead to catarrh and pneumonia. They weaken the entire system and leave it unable to resist the sudden changes. They interfere with your digestion and lessen your activity. Neglected they soon become that dread disease known as systemic catarrh. Don't neglect them. It's costly as well as dangerous.

PERUNA Will Safeguard You

Have a box of Peruna Tablets with you for the sudden cold or exposure. Tonic your system up with a regular course of the liquid Peruna, fortify it against colds, get your digestion up to normal, take care of yourself and avoid danger. If you are suffering now begin the treatment at once. Give Nature the help she needs to throw off the catarrhal inflammation, and again become well.

Peruna has been helping people for 44 years. Thousands of homes rely on it for coughs, colds and indigestion. It's a good tonic for the weak, as well.

What "His Bit" Really Means.

As first used in England, "His Bit" was intended to convey the impression of "his all," but the term "bit" is used in this country rather to minimize the task before us. Men think of one doing "his bit" in a sense of smallness rather than in a sense of consecration of their all. Let's find some new expression—stronger, more emphatic, more all-embracing, and yet not profane, which conveys the thought that we must do our utmost in this great world war—Manufacturers' Record.

Had To Quit Work Gave Up Hope of Recovery, But Doan's Restored His Health. Has Been Well Since.

J. B. Ragless, carpenter, 210 W. 60th St., Chicago, Ill., says: "My back gave out completely and I had to quit work. I could hardly endure the pain in my back and nights I tossed and turned, unable to sleep. Often in the morning I got up with my back as stiff as a board, so that I couldn't stoop to dress myself. When I did manage to bend over, everything before me turned black. My head seemed to be whirling and sometimes I was so dizzy I had to grasp something to keep from falling."

Mr. Ragless: "The kidney secretions were irregular in passage, getting me up at night and the passages burned cruelly. I lost my appetite, was weak and listless and went down twenty-five pounds in weight. When I had almost given up hope, Doan's Kidney Pills cured me. Soon after, I passed an examination for life insurance and I'm glad to say my cure has lasted."

RULES TO GOVERN BUILDING GARAGE

Conform to Architectural Lines of Surroundings, Structures, and Materials.

Value of Estate is Increased and Will Give Owner Less Trouble in Every Way—Installation of Equipment Important.

The same fundamental rules govern the building of a garage that apply to the building of a house. Care must be taken to see that the style of structure conforms with the architectural lines of surrounding buildings and that the materials used are not in too great contrast with the house.

It is advisable when building a garage to figure on accommodations for at least two machines. The additional cost of making a slightly larger building is but a small proportion of the cost of a one-car garage, and when one considers that the investment value is doubled, the added initial expenditure is well worth while. At the prevailing rental rates and the big demand for automobile space in all built-up sections, the larger garage can be erected as a good paying investment.

Essentials in Construction.

Good workmanship and materials are just as essential in the building of a garage as in the construction of the house. A good garage increases the value of an estate and will give the owner less trouble in every way. A concrete floor will be found more serviceable than a wooden one and will enhance the appearance of the building.

The installation of the garage equipment is of the utmost importance and should be attended to under the direct supervision of the owner. It is a good plan to shingle the inside of the walls and ceiling as a means to conserve the heat, and the economy effected by the double walls will probably equal the additional cost in one season.

A pit of sufficient dimensions to allow a person to crawl into should be constructed. This device will permit the owner to lie underneath his car and enable him to make any adjustments necessary. The installation of a drain at the bottom of the pit is very convenient.

Water connections are desirable in the garage, as water is needed for many purposes. It is convenient for filling radiators, washing the car and keeping the floor clean. The connections with the house system would cost but little more as a rule than direct connection with the street system and the advantages of hot and cold water more than offset the extra outlay involved.

Use Electric Lights.

Electric lights should be installed in the garage if possible. Electricity eliminates danger of explosion from gasoline fumes and extensions may be carried to any part of the building. A permanent bulb is necessary over the work bench while the trouble lamp with an extended cord can be used under the cars and in shaded corners.

An economical device which is worthy of consideration is the underground gasoline tank. This may be placed outside the building with a pipe running underground into the garage. The underground style of tank stores the gasoline away from the building and insures its safety from ignition. It also enables the owner to purchase his gasoline in large quantities with the advantage of wholesale prices.

The work bench is an indispensable fixture in a garage and should be constructed to allow plenty of working space. A good sized bench for the average garage is six feet long and a foot wide. The front board of the bench proper may be made of a 2 by 8 plank, which will permit the placing of a vise and enable it to stand the pounding that is often necessary. Cross braces on the legs will support a shelf for the storage of materials and tools.

Auto Alarm Whistle.

An automobile alarm whistle to be connected to the cylinders of a car can be made to utilize the full force of their explosions when desired.

SELLING TICKETS FOR WOMEN'S HOSPITAL

The picture shows an armored car leaving Washington square, New York, for the purpose of selling tickets to the big military ball held at Madison Square garden for the benefit of the Women's Overseas Hospital.

YELLOW GASOLINE IN FAVOR

Supply Might Be Increased If Motorists Realized Their Prejudice Was Unwarranted.

If motorists realized that their prejudice against yellowish gasoline was unwarranted the gasoline supply might be increased considerably.

In the early days of the oil industry poor refining methods were responsible for the production of yellowish kerosenes and gasolines, which were sometimes dangerous.

Another handicap, according to petroleum experts, is the necessity for refiners treating gasoline with sulphuric acid and caustic soda to remove unsaturated hydrocarbons, which have a high fuel value in an explosion engine.

It is estimated that there is a loss of $10,000,000 a year in the United States through these prejudices, represented by 30,000,000 gallons of gasoline, 35,000 tons of sulphuric acid and 3,500 tons of caustic soda.

REPLACE BEARING ON WHEEL

Best Way to Accomplish Task Is to Slip Short Length of Pipe Over the Spindle.

In replacing a bearing on a front wheel spindle for which it is a tight fit, the car owner sometimes slips the bearing on the taper end of the spindle and then uses the wheel as a hammer to force it home, wheel and bearing sliding into position of the spindle at the same time. This is poor business, as the strain on the bearing may break the hardened shoulder of the inner race, which is meant to withstand wear, but not shocks of this kind. The best way of accomplishing this work is to slip a short length of pipe over the spindle, the inner end resting against the inner race of the bearing. By hammering the outer end of the pipe carefully, the bearing will slip into place without trouble.

METHOD FOR HOLDING AXLES

Device Outlined for Holding Wheel Firmly in Position—Use Care in Hauling Car.

Here is a method for holding a broken rear axle in place. It consists of a board about six feet long, about one inch thick, and about six inches wide. A hole should be bored in the center of sufficient diameter to allow the hub cap to rest in it. The front end of this board is fastened to the running board, and the rear end is fastened to the spring. The wire on the running board should be fastened through the bolt hole, and in this way keep from unseating the fender. This device will hold the wheel firmly in place, although care should be taken in hauling in the car.

When Rear Axle Breaks.

IN FITTING BALL BEARINGS

Outer Race Should Form Sucking Fit With Its Housing—Stresses Are Thus Distributed.

In fitting ball bearings the outer race should form a sucking fit with its housing. This means that it should just be free enough so that shaft rotation will cause the race to slip around intermittently. A press fit should never be permitted and it is equally bad to fly to the other extreme and get too loose a fit. With a sucking fit the outer race can at times slip around and in this way the stresses are distributed and do not fall always on the same point.

Despite the criticism of the average owner as to the condition of the wheels of the car ahead, few indeed take the trouble to make the inspection of the wheels of their own cars.

LOYAL AMERICANS MUST CONTRIBUTE

CRUSHING OF GERMANY CAN BE ACCOMPLISHED ONLY BY OUR FINANCIAL AID.

RESPOND TO LIBERTY LOAN

Appeal to All True Citizens to Help Eliminate the Diseased Tree Lying Across the Path of True Democracy.

(By WINSTON CHURCHILL, Who Recently Returned From the War Zone.)

Germany may be likened to a great tree that has fallen across the path of democracy. The trunk is being chopped through by two axes, the military and the propagandist. If the trunk is to be severed and the obstruction removed, neither axis must be spared. Americans must contribute willingly to help their allies, to support their army and navy, which will be the deciding military factor in the struggle.

Our American president was the first world statesman to make clear that while a military victory is essential, it is not in itself adequate. The great significance of this war lies not on the battle lines, but behind them. It is a war for human liberty, and that which restricts human liberty, not only in the German empire, but also in America and England and France and Italy and Russia must be abolished. We are beginning to perceive that the future progress of democracy depends on national unselfishness and international co-operation scientifically conceived.

Issued World Proclamation.

In a series of masterly state papers Mr. Wilson has announced to the world that America enters the war unselfishly, and has defined the true issue for all the peoples of the earth—even for those deluded portions of the German population which, because of a false system of education, have hitherto upheld the hands of the worst enemies of liberty, the Junkers. Until quite recently, one of the most distinctive symptoms from the point of view of the allies was a discontent with, if not an actual opposition to, the war of large elements among the working classes of the allied peoples. In Russia, where democracy was most cruelly suppressed, where conditions for the peasant and the workingman were hardest, a revolution actually took place—a revolution that has sounded the keynote of our times. The world service which our president is doing is that of enlisting the allegiance of those masses for the war. He is convincing them that it is their war. And these are they upon whom the evils of an outward economic system have pressed hardest, and who hitherto have seen little hope that victory over the Germans meant their own deliverance. Mr. Wilson has issued a world proclamation of emancipation from economic slavery.

Make Their Own Treaties.

He not only declares that powerful nations shall cease to exploit little nations, but that powerful individuals shall cease to exploit their fellow men. He declares that henceforth no wars shall be fought for domination, and that to this end secret treaties shall be abolished. The peoples through their representatives shall make their own treaties. And just as national democracy insures to the individual the greatest amount of self-determination of self-realization, world democracy shall insure self-determination to the individual nations of the earth, in order that each may be free to make its own contribution to world democracy.

Fighting for Oppressed.

This is the spirit in which America has entered the war. We are fighting for the oppressed everywhere. And we are equally determined that the injustices and inequalities that exist in our own government, the false standards of worth, the materialism, the luxury and waste shall be purged from our midst. We shall seize this opportunity to finish in the cleaning of our own household. To sustain our army and navy in the struggle for such a cause, to uphold our president, to aid our allies who have fought so long and so bravely, these are worthy of our sacrifices. I am confident that the response of the American people to the third Liberty loan will be generous.

Bonds Feed the Boys.

Every farmer knows how his boys like to eat. Mother's fried chicken and apple dumplings and pumpkin pies haven't a chance in the world when the boys sit down at table. Lots of farmers' boys are in France and the farmer doesn't want them to go hungry over there. Liberty Bonds buy food for them.

Don't Bury Your Bond.

When you and your neighbor have bought your Liberty Bonds, don't take them home and hide them in the cupboard. Take them to your country banker and have him give you certificates of deposit for the bonds. Your banker can take these bonds to a Federal Reserve bank and borrow money for your use in case you suddenly find yourself in need of funds. Hiding a bond is as bad as hoarding money. Keep the bonds and the money in circulation and the country will pull through this crisis all right.

HULL MUST WAKE UP
Hull is not doing as much as it should in the Third Liberty Loan Drive, is the report of the committee so far. Quota is based on value of property of summer residents, therefore summer residents should credit some of the bonds that they buy to Hull.

AN AMERICAN PEACE.

There can be no peace with honor or safety to ourselves or to posterity, except a just peace, and there can and will be no other peace. Work for peace accomplishes nothing but the hampering of our effort, the delay of the real peace, and a greater toll of death of America's fighting men. Our duty is to war for a just and righteous peace; to work or speak for any other peace is aid and comfort to Germany—injury and disloyalty to our boys in France.

THIRD LIBERTY LOAN BUTTON.

The button which will be given to every subscriber to a Liberty Loan Bond of the third issue, whether of a $50 bond or a $10,000 one, will have a border of brilliant red, and a blue field with a liberty bell, and the words "Third Liberty Loan" in white.
Sixteen million of these buttons are now ready for delivery, and will be given out when the subscriptions are made.

HINGHAM HAPPENINGS

The Boy Scouts gave a very good entertainment last Friday evening in Loring Hall, presenting two short plays. Between the plays James H. Kimball gave his original and extremely interesting monologue on "Women." This is a masterpiece and puts "Jim" in the front rank as a monologue artist, both in point of composition and delivery. Miss Hazel Clark violinist, was as usual, and that is saying much. The music was furnished by Ralph and Robert Downey. Candy was sold and a goodly sum realized for war work.

Mrs. Richard Mead of Hingham Centre, has been ill for the past week with a severe cold.

The children from the West School took part in an entertainment of movies in connection with war relief. It was an excellent entertainment under direction of Miss Susie Thayer.

The Rebekah Lodge initiated several candidates at their regular meeting on Thursday evening. The Lodge is growing rapidly and the social evenings are much enjoyed.

The newly elected members of the Old Colony Lodge, I. O. O. F., went to South Yarmouth for their second degree and to East Weymouth for their third degree. It is said that both degrees were inspiring and worked and that a good time was had by all.

Mr. Eugene Bottings had a short fur-lough and came home to see his mother, arriving on Friday morning at 1.30 and leaving Saturday at 8 o'clock to return to Camp Merrill, N. J. Many of his friends visited him while he was at home. His visit was a pleasant surprise.

Letters from our boys are welcomed by the editor and will be published. Mrs. I. W. Ricker, associate editor, is coming home from N. Y. She will arrive on April 15th. Send in all news items.

Many requests have come in for a reprint of the original poem written by Mrs. C. T. Richardson for the 5th anniversary of the founding of Dorothy Bradford Chapter, O. E. S., and with the consent of Mrs. Richardson it will be given next week. Get your copy through your newsdealer or from Mrs. Ricker. Those desiring the Hull Star Wind, please order through the Allerton Office, Hull 225.

At Benner's is displayed a new line of spring and summer hats for children and shirt waists for ladies, in addition to the usual full stock of useful and fancy articles. The windows of this up-to-date store are always attractively arranged. Some artistic W. S. S. and Liberty Loan posters are exhibited at testing the patriotism of this company.

A War Relief Sale was given at St. Paul's Guild on Thursday, April 11th. Home made candy, cake and war bread and useful and fancy articles were sold. Lucy Frances Soule, daughter of the late George M. and Lucy T. (Ford) Soule, who passed away at the family home on North street, Wednesday of last week, was buried on Monday afternoon. Miss Soule was a life long resident of Hingham, being a descendant of George Soule of Mayflower stock.

The W. C. T. U. held an interesting all day meeting with Mrs. Ernest Shultz at her home on Pleasant street on April 9th. A basket luncheon was much enjoyed. Miss Charlotte Grant, leader of the Loyal Temperance Legion, the children's organization, gave a report and announced a growing interest in that work.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wingate Rollins of Crow Point and Milton have announced the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Sargeant, to Capt. Oswald H. Saunders of the U. S. Army. Miss Rollins is a sister of Ensign Wingate Rollins, U. S. N. R., whose marriage to Miss Ruth Whittier daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlotte Whittier of Milton was recently solemnized and at which she was one of the bridesmaids.

While in his senior year of the Engineering course at the University of Michigan, he enlisted in the M. S. T. Ground School, Pensacola, Fla. where he is now assigned as assistant to the Chief of Higher Instruction in bombing and aerial photography.

On April 21, Rev. James I. J. Corrigan a Jesuit of Boston College, Chestnut Hill, a professor of Philosophy and Sociology at Boston College and lecturer in Modern Social Problems, will give a patriotic lecture in the Guild hall at 3.30 p. m. on "The Great Issue of the World War."

A. Roberta Hardy
M. Dorothy MacKee
P. Helen Kehoe
Miss Susan Thayer assisted at the piano.

Uncle Sam is much worried as to how he is to obtain the funds to defray the great expense he is under. He wishes it was in the time of Faries. His wish is realized as the Parties trip onto the stage singing "Over Here," informing the people, it is up to them.

Uncle Sam's problem is solved by the Thrift Stamp. As he points to them he utters the one word—Thrift!

LAND COMMITTEE

The Public Safety Committee of Hull is now considering its summer work. The committee on land is J. R. Wheeler, J. L. Mitchell, A. F. Pope and F. P. Richardson. This committee is now working on the question of the procuring and disturbing of land for purposes of cultivation.

Every landowner who has idle land on his hands which he is willing to loan the committee for the coming season is asked to notify the committee of this fact as soon as possible.

Every person who desires a piece of land for garden purposes should notify some member of the committee in writing at once. No land can be promised unless this requirement is met.

This is your business. Every inch of land and every ounce of strength available should be utilized this year for the production of food to help win the war.

Hull, Mass.

Troop meets Fridays, 7 p. m., at Hull Public Library. Frank Kingdon, Scoutmaster; C. V. Nickerson, Chairman Troop Committee.

During the first and second campaign of the United States Liberty Loan, the Boy Scouts of America were called upon, by their National President, Mr. Colin Livingstone, and by their Honorary President, Mr. Woodrow Wilson to distribute posters and to do their utmost in procuring subscriptions. Without doubt, the Boy Scouts will be again called upon to do the same as they had done during the two previous campaigns. The Troop officials are earnestly hoping that the people of Hull will subscribe to the third Liberty Loan through the Boy Scouts of America.

If the Scouts are called upon to procure subscriptions, a message from the President of the United States will appear on the poster, and probably the same sheet will be a detachable application for subscription through the Boy Scouts.

The petition of Mrs. F. V. Bistrup to the Land Court for the registration of her land on Standish Ave., may be of interest to owners of land in Allerton Terrace.

Errors which seem to appear in the plan of Allerton Terrace or the location of stakes makes it difficult to determine the exact proper bounds of the lots and it is to correct the difficulty in this section. The return date has been set for April 29th.

There are several of the summer families down already. It seems good to see the lights.

Mr. Smith Sturges returned to his daughter's home in New York this week after a pleasant visit at the home of his son, Capt. Sturges.

After All, What Was There for the "Jedge" to Do?

A BIG real estate man—"big" stands for business—called on an old tenant who was behind in her rent. He was welcomed with affable apologies and given an exceedingly rich promise of payment. "I has the rent, jedge, all but the las' dollah, an' as soon as I c'n riz it I'm a-comin' righter 'roun—I cert'n'y is."

"Look here, aunty. I don't want to see you turned out in weather like this. I know how good you used to be to that old man of yours after he got crippled up—and what a lot of honest hard work you have done in your time—I wish I had as clean a record. Suppose I give you that dollah. Will you come to the office and pay up?"

Aunty was beamingly sure. So the "jedge" gave her the money—Lord love—and went his way. The next morning the old lady failed to show up. She was among those absent the day after. And the day after that. And on the morning after that a righteousness-ful "Jedge" repeated his visit.

"Thought you were coming to pay that rent?"

"Why, good mawnin', jedge! It cert'n'y is curus for you to come heah jes' as I was a steddin' 't come roun' t' yoh office wif my rent money—I got it all 'guther cepn' the las' dollah—"

"Didn't I give you that dollah?"

"Deed you did, jedge, honey. You cert'n'y did gimme that dollah—an' it come in mouty handy, too—'f I hadn't had it when that ooman come stawm'p'n' in on me to pay her the las' dollah I owed her for my ree-gale-yeer I couldn't a-turned out yesty with the Sisters of the Gallican Fishmen an' rid in a hack. You c'n go to pahlor socials, any way you wants to, but when you rides to buryin's you got to weah a purple silk ap'n boun' 'roun' wif white an' a collah to match. The s'lety I b'longs to pays sick benefits an' 'sesses you evey' time you dies, so you c'n have a ch'ch' suvvice wif fo' hacks free an' a wreat of any kinder flowers yo' mo'ners calls for. But I got mah wash money comin' to me 't'night, an' 'f I'm the madam pays me I cert'n'y am gwine take that dollah an' pay mah rent—"

It isn't in the story what the "jedge" did, but as the old tenant kept her chip of a house up in Blank alley one might guess.

Peculiar Thrill Went With Shopping Expedition

A WOMAN in a raincoat was buying gloves. The customer next wore finery which implied a chauffeur at the curb. Both had umbrellas that fraternized, side by side, regardless of the abysmal canyon that divides mercerized rubber from seal—and both were buying gloves.

When her package was tucked under the weather, Raincoat went outside, raised her gloria, and—

Down showered gloves, silk stockings, a nifty neckpiece and a silver-meshed bag.

You might suppose a showdown like that would have raised a mob, but there wasn't an Argus-eye in sight—thanks to the storm and to the fact that this is a true happening instead of dramatic fiction. So Raincoat fished up her sloppy loot, waded back to the store with the stuff held at arm-length to avoid the circumstantial-evidence appearance of what a soulless law calls being caught in the act, and went into executive session with a floor walker.

But the loot-lady who had planted her swag in the wrong cache had gone into the unknown and carried her freedom along. And that was all there was to it, except that Raincoat went home excitedly elated because for the first time in all her decades she had come in touch with crime.

Her Paradoxical Position.

"A vessel is different in one way from anything else."

"What is that?"

"It is when she is tied up that she can't make any knots."

Scenes of Prosperity Are Common in Western Canada

The thousands of U. S. farmers who have accepted Canada's generous offer to settle on homesteads or buy farm land in her provinces have been well repaid by bountiful crops of wheat and other grains.

Where you can buy good farm land at $15 to $30 per acre—get $2 a bushel for wheat and raise 20 to 45 bushels to the acre you are bound to make money—that's what you can do in Western Canada.

In the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta you can get a HOMESTEAD OF 160 ACRES FREE and other land at very low prices.

During many years Canadian wheat fields have averaged 20 bushels to the acre—many yields as high as 45 bushels to the acre. Wonderful crops also of Oats, Barley, and Flax.

Mixed Farming is as profitable an industry as grain raising. Good schools, churches, markets convenient, climate excellent. Write for literature and particulars as to reduced railway rates to Dept. of Immigration, Ottawa, Can., or to

TAPS WIRELESS KEY FOR HIS UNCLE SAM

Baseball has lost another player by reason of the war in the person of Morris Rath, who joined the United States Navy recently. Rath is now learning the fundamentals of wireless in the naval wireless school in Philadelphia. He was given a tryout by several major league teams, and last year made such a good showing with the Salt Lake club of the Pacific Coast league, that Christy Mathewson signed him for a trial with the Cincinnati Reds this year. Rath at one time played second base for the Kansas City club of the American association. The photo shows him operating a wireless key at one of the government naval training stations.

STARS UNHERALDED

Baseball history has proved that the players who develop into the major league stars enter the big show unheralded and un-sung.

Wagner, Mathewson, Speaker, Cobb, Collins, Alexander, Johnson and many others made their entrance under modest and, in many instances, unknown circumstances.

Little or nothing was known of Alexander as a minor leaguer. So obscure was he that he was obtained in the trade. He was obliged to prove his worth as a "rookie," and at one time there was some discussion as to whether he would be among those retained during his first year with the Phillies.

GAIN RESPECT FOR CRICKET

British Game, Thought to Be Mild and Harmless, Praised by Boys in Service Abroad.

Occasionally letters from boys in the service abroad show that while they are teaching France and England the beauties of baseball, they are gaining new respect for the British game of cricket, which they had previously thought about as mild and harmless as croquet. One soldier, writing of a cricket game he saw, declares that the British fielders, "while weak on grounders, are pippins on fly balls. They'll go down the field for a long fly, Judge it just right, and grab it without gloves. Some of the catches they make would do honor to Roush or Speaker."

DECORATION GIVEN TO CAPTAIN MILLER

Johnny (Dots) Miller, former captain of the St. Louis Cardinals, who is now attached to the 83d company of marines at Paris Island, S. C., has received his first military decoration—the silver crossed guns of an expert rifleman.

When he established the monthly shooting record at the Paris Island rifle range on February 23d, Johnny proved that he was as capable of putting steel covered rifle balls right in the center of a bull's eye as he was in throwing the "pill" to bases.

Miller registered a score of 259 points out of a possible 300; shooting on 200, 400, 600 and 1,000 yard ranges. "A fellow can't help but shoot straight, if he pays strict attention to his coach's instruction," says Miller. He is rapidly developing into one of those "double listed, scrapping soldiers of the sea," and says it's a great life.

WELKER COCHRAN IS PICKED BY CRITICS

Youngster Being Selected to De-throne Hoppe of Crown.

Iowa Youth Has Been Improving His Billiards by Leaps and Bounds Since He First Broke Into Limelight Years Ago.

Time was when the man who mentioned any billiard player as a possible successor to Willie Hoppe as balk-line champion was ridiculed. The idea was preposterous, the talent declared. Hoppe was so pre-eminent in his line that there was not the remotest chance of anyone displacing him.

Hoppe is still pre-eminent, his wizardry with the cue is as faultless as ever, but nevertheless his matchless play is being approached by a youngster who is planning a campaign to culminate in a challenge for Hoppe's many titles.

Welker Cochran, the Iowa youth, has been improving his billiards by leaps and bounds since he first broke into the limelight a few years ago. On a tour with Hoppe two or three years ago Cochran looked like a novice beside the master billiardist, but he worked hard, continually studying Hoppe's game and improving his own.

This year he has shown such phenomenal billiards that critics believe he would be able to give the champion trouble at his favorite balk-line games.

Cochran is also a talented three-cushion player. He has never entered competition for the championship perhaps for the same reason that Hoppe has refused to compete for these honors.

The National Three-Cushion Billiard association rules make it imperative for a champion to defend his title every two or three months if there is a challenge and Hoppe has never considered the honor worth the trouble. In the last two years there have been so many three-cushion champions that scarcely anyone remembers who they were. Alfredo De Oro has held the title three times in that length of time. This rule probably also keeps Cochran from competing.

WILLARD IN EXCELLENT SHAPE TO MEET FULTON

This, the very latest photograph taken of Jess Willard, disproves the tales that have persistently appeared about the great weight which Jess is supposed to be accumulating. As this photo shows him, he is in splendid condition, and would not need a terrific amount of work to condition himself for a bout with Fred Fulton or anyone else.

Since Fulton knocked out Frank Moran his claim to a match with Willard has naturally become more insistent. The only other man on the fistie horizon is Jack Dempsey, and Fulton seems to have first claim.

BUSINESS WAS RUSHING

Harry Frazee, Jr., fifteen years old, is an enterprising schoolboy.

Last spring he wrote to his father, president of the Red Sox, for half a dozen new balls. Frazee, Sr., paid $1.25 each for them and shipped them immediately.

Several weeks later he received another urgent request for a second half dozen, which also were sent with a letter asking what had been done with the first batch.

Back came a reply which read: "I sold the first half dozen at a quarter apiece. Business is rushing!"

A Fortunate Assignment

By C. W. LAMB

(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

Jimmie Walker had spent his youthful life in an atmosphere whose ozone had been largely feminine; he had devoted by far the greater portion of his college days to the womanly attractions, and even after he had accepted a much-sought-after position on the Press and had commenced to realize that his education instead of being finished was only begun, had not ceased his attentions to the ladies but rather, if possible, increased them, until he met Miss Knight, tall, blonde Miss Knight, who, he remarked, would better have been called day.

It was while dining with an old classmate one evening that he met her, and at first only remembered the tall girl with the blue eyes and the sweet smile, and the genial, pleasing manner; but when one day she appeared in his dingy city room with the friend's wife and asked him to give her amateur theatricals a notice, he became aware that there was something attractive in the slender face beneath those bright, wavy locks, and humbly apologized for his undress appearance—he had thrown off his coat—and the belittled condition of the office.

Gave Him the Report.

He went to those theatricals, refusing a complimentary ticket, and watched her play the heroine with far more schoolgirl grace and bashfulness than histrionic talent, and discovered that he was envying the young man who took her in his arms and called her his own.

He danced with her after the performance, too, and vaguely felt that his six feet two better became her tall, slender figure than did the stout form of her lover in the play whose eyes rarely met hers in a direct glance.

So things drifted along. The spring was born of the winter's snows and the blossoms of summer came out of the buds and died in the autumn's blast, and the glow of the Yuletide candles gave warmth and beauty to the cold, white reflections from out of doors; and he stood beneath the mistletoe, and taking her in his arms, pressed a kiss on her lips and called her his own, and the only applause was in their hearts, for this was not play acting.

Now, Jimmie Walker had never been exactly a saint, although no one ever had called him a fast young man. He had taken life pretty much as he had found it, and had never judged men by their own comparison, but by his ideal, and had associated with them according to his personal taste. He was rather free and easy, and would sit down in the back room of the "Quiet House" and sip his beer with a brother or quill driver of the Press with the same relish that he would enter into a theological discussion with his mother's rector. Still, he was in no way loose in his morals, nor had he ever been in that enviable condition called by the city room, "full." He frankly told all this to Miss Knight and in compliance with her earnest request, promised to cease his visits to the Quiet House or similar places, and manfully kept his promise.

Jimmie was very happy in his engagement to Miss Knight and looked forward to the coming fall with great pleasure, for then was to come his wedding. For her sake he gave up his visits to the rather Bohemian Press club and confined his time to her or his den, where his books were his company, and even gave up his pipe, because he felt that tobacco fumes were not consistent with her purity, and that the money he smoked had better be saved. So his promotion came with the autumn and he was transferred to read exchanges and write editorials. But it happened one forenoon in September, as he sat at his paper-delivered desk, skimming the extracts from the brilliant brains of the newspaper world, that the "old man" sent for him and "shipped" him on an emergency assignment to interview an actress who had just secured a divorce after a highly sensational trial, explaining as he did so that all of the city staff were out and could not be reached for the purpose.

The interview was not long, and was pleasant, for with all of his aversion to the woman, she could be very fascinating. He found her with her street wraps on, ready to go out, and after interviewing she walked downstairs with him, telling of a wine supper she was to attend that night, and as he left her at the street door and turned away, she called after him in a reckless boldness: "Come join us tonight—you'll have a good time." And Jimmie strode down the street without noticing the ladies standing in the doorway of the ladies' entrance just behind him.

That evening, Jimmie spent in his den with Macaulay, and retired with a light heart and a clear conscience, for it was one day nearer to November.

The next morning as he sat among his exchanges, thinking of the call that he would make that evening, a district messenger boy came into the office, whistling the song the actress was making famous, and gave him a dainty, perfumed note, which he took smilingly and gazed for some seconds at the superscription, for he knew it was from "her." And giving the boy time to get out of the way—he wished to be alone when he read her note—slowly opened and read it. The bright smile died away as he read, and as he finished and set holding the open note in his hand, his eyes gazed away into vacancy, a troubled look on his face. Clegg of the city staff strolled into the room and greeted him with:

"What's up, old man, you look blue. Bad news?"

"Just thinking, that's all," but the undertone of the would-be jolly voice was such that Clegg quietly withdrew.

Bad news? Thinking! That explained it, for the little perfumed note, written on the delicate lavender-tinted paper, said:

"Having witnessed your conduct with that woman at the Normandy yesterday, I will not be at home this evening, nor hereafter."

He could not understand it. There was surely some mistake, and all that day he worked like one in a trance, scarcely knowing how the moments passed, and as soon as the paper was on the press, he closed his room and went directly to her home. There he was met by the maid, the same as usual, but she brought back his card with the message on the back: "Miss Knight is not at home to Mr. Walker." And Jimmie went back to his den and, throwing himself on his couch, buried his face in his arms and shut the world from him.

About tea time that evening he was aroused by his mother's knock at the door and received from her a little packet addressed to Mr. James Walker in the well-known hand, and his mother wondered why he did not smile when he saw it, for he had told her nothing.

So the months drifted by, and the comment of his fellows was: "What's the matter with Jimmie?" but they soon became used to his changed manner and ceased to talk about it. The glorious Indian summer with its mellow skies and its golden air; the joyous yuletide with its snow and evergreen; the first month of the new year with its ice and blizzards were passed and February was bringing its searching winds when one day the "old man" came to him in a hurry and asked him to take an assignment and report the annual meeting of the Children's hospital, and it was a work in which "she" was interested. During all these weary months he had not seen her, nor had he allowed himself to inquire for her, still he knew that now he should meet her, for this was her special work. So he left his quiet exchange room and went uptown to where the neat hospital building stood in the midst of its broad lawn, looking over the broader lake.

At the entrance he met the matron and was ushered into the office while the secretary was called, and he stood pale and trembling for a moment, as in the person of the secretary he recognized Miss Knight, and he saw that she, too, was pale. For a moment only it was thus, and then his deep, calm voice broke the quiet with:

"I would like to get a report of the meeting for the Press," and her reply was equally calm.

"Certainly. Be seated, please," and he sat at the little desk while she sat at the end of it and gave him the report, and no one could guess what was beneath those calm exterior or note the tremors that would not be heard of voice. And while reading her notes in silence for a moment she unconsciously laid her hand on the desk near him, and with the old soul in his eyes, he raised it to his lips and kissed it.

And Jimmie went back to the office that day with a bright smile on his face, and after reporting to the "old man," put in for a leave in May for a wedding trip.

There's a Difference.

The main difference between men and women is nowhere so marked as it is in the distinction between character and ability.

A man's ability is entirely separate from his character. A man may have genius and no character at all. He may have small abilities and large character. In a man the two things appear to be entirely independent of one another.

But a woman's character is determined by her ability, and her ability is determined by her character. In reality, therefore, women are much more simple than men, although they do not appear to be so. Women are more complicated outwardly than men. They offer more superficial variety. But closer observation and association among them tend to make them more alike.

MIDNIGHT HAPPENING.

There is a woman living on the Heights who is rather timid about fires. And the night was cold, and her husband was out of town, and when she retired at night she felt nervous.

After an hour or maybe two or three, she was awakened by the sound of a loud gong, beating rapidly. She sprang from her bed. The house stands close to the street, and the gong was clanging in front of the house. She rushed to the window and threw it open. There were no fire engines visible, but a street car was standing on the track, and somebody was calling "Fire! Fire!"

"Don't stand there and yell 'fire'!" she shrieked to the street car crew, both of which were standing in the street. "Turn in an alarm!"

"Go back to bed, lady," answered the motorman. "I wasn't yellin' fire. The trolley was off and the conductor couldn't get it back on and I was yellin' 'Higher—higher!'"

And that's all there was to it.

Time Tables.

"Is this train on time?" asked the local passenger.

"I don't know just what to say," answered the conductor. "We'll get into the station at four o'clock."

"Why, that's when she's due, to the minute."

"Yes. But she's exactly 24 hours behindhand."

The Real Reason.

She—How does it happen that you never married, when you've been engaged so many times?

He—I can give the best references from all the girls who broke the engagements. They all say I'm too good for them.

HEAVY.

The Professor—In ancient times they wrote on bricks.

The Absent-Minded Man—Geel! I bet no man ever forgot to mail his wife's letter then.

Real Troubles.

The kicker silent now we find. He seems to lose the trick. He has so much upon his mind He hasn't time to kick.

Naughty Neighbors.

"How do you like your neighbors?" "Not a bit," said the woman who was trying a little boy's hat on. "You see, they don't like children."

"How do you know?"

"They hurt Reginald's feelings dreadfully. When he throws stones at their dog or plays the hose on their windows they look real cross at him!" —Puffinblatter.

No Compliment.

"I told Henrietta that I was proud to see her vote just like a man," said Mr. Meekton.

"Did that please her?" "No. The choice of phrase was unfortunate. She said that if she couldn't vote better than a man there would have been no need of her troubling about the ballot in the first place."

A Relief.

"Your husband has been talking to those pretty young girls for almost an hour, and you don't seem to mind it at all."

"Not a bit. So long as they are willing to listen to his nonsense, I don't have to."

Real Temptation.

"I must not forget to lock up my diamonds," said the cautious woman.

"Never mind about them," replied her husband. "No sensible burglar bothers about diamonds. You see that the refrigerator is locked. That has pork chops and a violin steak in it."

A Woman's Way.

Mrs. Hilton—Weren't you surprised, dear, when your husband gave you such a nice present?

Mrs. Hilton—No; I was suspicious. —Lampoon.

Gets Big Wolf.

J. W. Fountain, a rancher of the McKenzie Valley, living near Waterville, Ore., recently brought to Eugene the pelt of a huge black wolf trapped by him.

He caught it in two traps, set close to each other, and the animal had both broken and would have escaped soon had Mr. Fountain not arrived when he did. There are several of these animals in that vicinity, and the ranchers have been losing cattle and sheep as a result of their depredations.

This wolf was one of the largest ever seen in this county, measuring over eight feet from tip to tip.

Win the War by Preparing the Land Sowing the Seed and Producing Bigger Crops

Work in Joint Effort the Soil of the United States and Canada CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied, we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than May 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.

Musical Beginnings.

Mrs. Boynton caught a glimpse of her young son going to the library one afternoon concealing something behind him. Upon investigation, she discovered he had a new porous plaster which he had found in the medicine closet.

"Why, Edmund," said the mother, "what in the world are you going to do with that plaster?"

"I am going to see what tune it will play on the pianola, mother," replied the boy.—Puck.

HAVE YOU A SWEETHEART?

Son or Brother in training camps in the American Army or Navy? If so, mail him a package of ALLEN'S FOOT-POWDER, the antiseptic powder to be shaken into the shoes and sprinkled in the foot-bath. The American, British and French troops use Allen's Foot-Powder, because it takes the friction from the shoe and freshens the feet. It is the greatest comfort for tired, itching, tender, swollen feet, and gives relief to corns and blisters.

The Foot-Powder Camp Manual advises men to rub in Allen's Foot-Powder in their shoes each morning. Ask your dealer to-day for a 25c. box of Allen's Foot-Powder, and for a 2c. stamp he will mail it for you. What remembrance could be so acceptable?

A thrilling sight and one rarely seen in this vicinity, if ever before although we expect as time goes on it will be a more common sight was the passing over on last Saturday afternoon of five aeroplanes, coming from the Aviation Station at Chatham, Mass., and enroute for Boston, to see and be a part of the big demonstration in that city on that afternoon. They were following the coast line when seen in the air passing Cohasset and were flying only a few miles up apparently as they were very plainly seen at the C. C.'s house and the insignia on them were plainly seen by a resident near Sandy Cove. With a hum like a million bumblebees; each following the other, they cleared their way through the ether, a truly marvelous sight. On their return in the afternoon they were seen by Beachwood residents as they took a course farther inland. It is said Edward Jason, who is at the Chatham Station was in one of them.

THESPIAN TOPICS

"SO LONG LETTY" RETURNS

Speedy Musical Farce at Shubert Theatre, Boston, next week, with Charlotte Greenwood and Old Favorites.

Oliver Morosco is again to invade Boston, presenting at the Shubert Theatre next week, for a return engagement, his big musical success, "So Long Letty," which will be pleasantly remembered by many local theatregoers who laughed at and enjoyed the eccentric qualities of Charlotte Greenwood and her capable supporting company, which remains practically intact.

The story of "So Long Letty," is taken from Elmer Harris' former farce, "Your Neighbor's Wife," which was made into its present form by Mr. Morosco and the original author. It deals in a humorous way with two couples residing in the trolley car colony of San Francisco Bay, the male members of which feel that they would be much happier and better suited if united with the wife of the other, and an exchange of wives is arranged for on the basis of a week's trial, at the end of which they realize the folly of their ways and return to their own families. The humorous situation contained therein continues through the two acts, the first showing the exterior of two of these trolley car homes, the second act being the interior of one of the cars. This locale affords ample opportunity for the many musical numbers and specialties with which the play abounds.

The same great cast will be seen, including Sidney Grant, May Bailey and Walter Catlett. Popular prices will prevail at the Wednesday and Saturday matinees, the best orchestra seats being one dollar ($1.00). Evenings the prices range from 50c. to $1.00, and no higher price is charged.

"HEARTS OF THE WORLD"

D. W. Griffith's Latest Masterpiece, at the Majestic Theatre, Boston Next Week.

The biggest event in the entire season in the world of motion pictures will be the presentation of D. W. Griffith's latest film masterpiece, "Hearts of the World," beginning next Tuesday, April 10th, at the Majestic Theatre, under the management of William Elliott, F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest.

"Hearts of the World" required eighteen months in the making and many of the scenes were taken on the actual battlefield of France by Mr. Griffith, with the official aid and assistance of the British and the French Governments. Mr. Griffith, however, is anxious to remove any apprehension that "Hearts of the World" is primarily a war picture. It is, he announces, primarily a love story, in which war figures as the grim background. It may be called "the story of village," and for more than forty minutes during the exposition of the story, there is not a cannon shot, not a suggestion of war's alarms. There is the pretty romance of two girls in love, there is the quiet and peaceful atmosphere of a small French town before the holocaust of war. Then comes the conflict, with its ensuing effects upon the fortunes of those in the little village. The battle scenes shown are actual battle scenes taken right in the trenches during the death struggles of the French and the Germans. Thus one sees the life in the trenches, the charges of the French soldiers, the thrilling hand-to-hand conflicts and the thrust of the bayonets, the murder of the shells, the great guns in action, the tanks, the attack by liquid fire, the charges and the retreats, the German pill-boxes, the flight of the villagers, the ruthless destruction of property, the treatment of young girls who fall into the hands of the Germans and other things to numerous to mention, the whole culminating in the arrival of the American troops, of ultimate victory and a hint of future happiness for those who have endured this terrible struggle. Mr. Griffith has said that "Hearts of the World" is a drama, rather than a propaganda film. Yet no one can sit through his wonderful pictorial representation of the tragedy of bleeding France, without going forth more determined than ever that this conflict must be won, that the Allies must triumph over their adversaries, and that such grim horrors of war must never happen again in the history of the world.

Prominent in the cast of "Hearts of the World" are the two beautiful Gish sisters, Lillian and Dorothy; Bob Harrow, George Sigmon and other well-known players.

Mr. Griffith will arrive in Boston to have personal charge and supervision of the initial showing of "Hearts of the World."

CASTLE SQUARE

The leading attraction of the program during the first half of the coming week at the Castle Square will be a photoplay made in the drama, "La Tesca," and in it Pauline Frederick will appear in the title character. The play is one of intensely emotional scenes, and Miss Frederick portrays the trials of the heroine with no little skill. It will prove one of the most interesting events in the Castle Square season. "Little Red Decides" with Frederick Vroom and other well known players in the cast, will be the other leading photoplay through Wednesday.

Mabel Norman in "The Floor Below" and "The Stranger," a Bill West comedy, will head the Castle Square program during the last half of the week. For the entire week the Castle Players will appear in a repertory of sketches, monologues and songs under the direction of Andru Lewis, and a special engagement that will delight the audience will be the return of Al Roberts, for many seasons one of the leading members of John Craig's company at the Castle Square.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE

Alexandra Carlisle in "The Country Cousin" at the Hollis Street Theatre, Boston, has achieved one of the most emphatic successes that the present notable theatrical season has known through her playing of the leading role in this play by Booth Tarkington and Julian Street. There is hardly a theatregoer who does not remember the wonderful play, "The Man from Home," a play that has been presented for a number of years to constantly crowded houses. It was appreciated because it was an American play that touched a responsive chord in every breast through the honest purpose of its story. It was written by Booth Tarkington, a wearer of brilliant honors both in fiction and stage writings.

Humor of the rich, substantial sort carries the play to instant favor. There is no attempt at raciness of style in comedy. Instead it is the kind that carries a thought with it a satire upon the undesirable sort of human who afflict society, the frivolous and useless whom it is pleasant to see in ridicule. The story contrasts the more modest and honest ideals with the looser social life of the idle rich prevalent in many of our American cities.

And though comedy is the keynote, there are some healthy moments of seriousness that touch upon the higher necessities of today. It is all introduced so artistically that it favors the action perfectly, and the feeling after seeing the play is one that is satisfying to the full. Miss Carlisle is surrounded by a perfect cast of players, many of them Boston favorites, including Alfred Lunt, Donald Gallagher, Beatrice Noyes, Eleanor Gordon and Charles Mackay. Matinees are given on Wednesdays and Saturdays with an extra matinee on Patriot's day, April 19. Mail orders will be carefully filled.

A Man Famine

IN common with other countries involved in the World War, the United States is now suffering from a depletion of its business forces because of the large number of men who have entered the service of the government in the business of war. This condition is likely to become more acute in the near future. Business effort is further hampered by the cancellation of many trains on the railroads and by congestion of traffic.

What is the answer? Conservation!

This is the watchword, the slogan of today—We are asked to save food, coal, materials of every kind, yet but little has been said about the CONSERVATION OF TIME, TRAVELLING EXPENSE, etc., which are also matters of great importance.

The most effective aid to Conservation is the telephone because—

It is the quickest means of communication and thus conserves time.

It enables one man to do the work of many and thus conserves labor.

It is surprisingly effective of results, being equal and sometimes superior to a personal call; it thus increases business efficiency.

It is economical when we consider what can be accomplished by a telephone interview of a few minutes' duration, comprising several hundred words of conversation; it, therefore, conserves money.

Then why not make "Conservation by Telephone" your slogan?
